MOSCOW DISASTER WAS AN AWFUL ONE

RUSSIAN PEASANTS TRAMPLED TO DEATH.

Two Thousand Thought to Have Been habits of the natives. Ex-Minister Killed-Mad Rush For Souvenirs the Cause of the Accident-No English or Americane Were Injured.

Moscow, June 1.-The disaster on the Khodijinskoje plain Saturday is constantly gaining in proportion as the investigations by the authorities continue. These are made under difficulties, as the recovery of the victims was conducted by hundreds of volunteers, and many were carried away before they were enumerated. Many additional deaths of the injured who were carried away are occurring, which are only added to the enumeration after some

It is now said that the fatalities will amount to between two and three thousand, but it is impossible yet to ascertain accurately the extent of the disaster. An official statement issued places the number of dead recovered at 1,336 and the seriously or fatally injured at 286. But in contrast with this official statement there are 1.282 corpses lying at the cemetery, besides the many dead and dying that are known field by friends.

Various versions as to the origin of the stampede and crush are current, ence is attached is that the wagons were to be distributed among the people were proceeding to the Khodijnskoje plain, followed by a multitude of eager peasants, when the atendants, with a view to pleasing the people, threw a number of the souvenirs into the crowd. There was a wild scramble toward the point where they fell, and the news spread like wild fire up and down the throngs of expectant peasants that the distribution had commenced. This resulted in a headlong, pell-mell rush for the booths, where the distribution of souvenirs was to have been made gates to the Chicago convention who later. The arrangements which it was in order during the distribution had not been completed at that early hour.

proportion of the dead are women and children. A judicial inquiry has been opened into the causes of the disaster, and an effort will be made to fix the responsibility.

All day the full force of police and firemen worked among the dead, pulling bodies from heaps of the killed and injured and ranging them on the ground, which was covered for hundreds of yards with groups of ten and twenty begrimed and blooodstained corpses, among which the agonized friends of the missing wandered in a painful effort to identify them. The injured who were mixed with the dead suffered terribly with thirst and the fever of their unattended injuries. The work of carrying the bodies to the cemetery where it is intended to inter those who fail of identification continued all night.

In the morning the forces at work on the plain discovered the mouth of a disused well in the middle of the field, the plank covering of which had given away in the mad rush. In the well there were thirty dead bodies, and wedged in among them and held down by their weight were found two men, alive and comparatively uninjured physically, but the terror and the hideous surroundings of the night, had proved too great a strain on their minds, and they were raving maniacs.

HERMANS IS IN IDAHO.

Officers of the Law Go in Search of the Salt Lake Pastoe.

Salt Lake City, Utah, June 1.—The Rev. Franics Hermans, the Salt Lake minister charged with the murder and cremation of Henrietta Clausen, is supposed to be hiding in the mountain fastnesses of Idaho. Officers have left here for some point off the Oregon Short Line to effect his capture. A stained pick was found Sunday in the course of a search of the Scandinavian Methodist church premises. It was hidden under the back porch of the church and had apparently been there for months. Adhering to the rusted and stained sides of the pick was human hair of the same color as that of the Clausen girl. This discovery conflicts with the previous theory that 000. Hermans poisoned the girl, leading to the supposition that he murdered her by a blow with the pick. The stains will be examined to ascertain if they were really made by blood.

St. Louis, Mo., June 1.-More than 200,000 persons from the city and abroad tramped or drove through the cold, drizzling rain all day Sunday viewing the wreck and devastation wrought by the tornado on both sides of the river. Of this crowd of sightseers fully 60,000 were from points outside St. Louis.

General indignation is expressed by all classes of citizens over the conduct of Gov. Stone, who, the morning after the tornado, turned his back on a stricken people to go to Texas to make a political speech. His conduct is contrasted with that of Gov. MUST GET THE KEY TO KEEP THE TUNE

WORLD TO A ORCHESTRA.

Rev. S. E. Lathrop of Ashland, Draws a Lesson From the Leader and His Pitch Pipe, at the Congregational Church-What the Other Pastors Said.

Rev. Stanley E. Lathrop of Ashland, Wis., preached at the Congregational church again yesterday morning. He chose for his text "Making Melody" from Paul's epistle to the Ephesians 5:19. He compared the world to a great orchestra, the curtain rising on the cradle and falling on the grave of each individual performer. He had remarked the effect of one discordant voice mingled with others in a congregation. It was not only off pitch itself but it influenced those around it not perfectly independent. He said a musical conductor always depended up on some perfect instrument to get the correct pitch to give to the orchestra. Christ is the leader of the great orchestra of humanity, and if we are to have our lives tuned aright, we are to get our key-note from Him. Everyone possesses a harp with a hundred strings, with a whole gamut of affection. In order that perfect harmony shall prevail, each individual must see to it that his own harp is tuned to the true key of moral harmony. Even the music of a crushed heart may be like the sounds of an Eclian harp. The storms of affliction beating upon its pulses like the winds upon the strings of the harp, making sweetest melody. By the rivers of Babylon the Jews sat down and wept. They handged their harps on the willows, where they that carried them away captive required of them a song. How could they sing the Lord's song in a strange land but even when affliction seems on every side there will come a Daniel or a John the Baptist, to point men to the Lamb of God, who taketh away the sins of the world. The key note for all ages is taken from that great chorus sung over the manger cradle in Bethlehem, when the angels led in the song of "Peace on Earth and Goodwill to Men." The speaker urged those present to get into harmony by observing the rules laid down by the Savior of man- the path leading to Him, we may keep kind, taking Him for their leader. in that path by prayers and service. forth at the Congregational church specified is entilled, of course, to cut thereby preparing themselves to join in the last great song "and His name save human souls, terrific must be the shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, judgment if His Son is not accepted. "HOW TO BUILD" DR. HODGE'S THEME Baptist' Heard Two Masterly Sermons Yesterday-The Announcements.

Dr. Hodge took for his morning text at the Baptist church, Matt 7:14-27, the subject being, "How to Build." He called attention to the fact that storms bear upon both houses, but that the one on the true foundation was able to withstand the tempest. He said believers were not kept out of protected in them.

At the evening service he spoke especially to the members of the Young Personal or special Providence, or People's society, his subject being else Providence is not 'personal' and "Christian Cadeavor." He said the first aim should be personal salvation. No person should be satisfied to be merely an associate member; it is well to associate with Christian people, but that is not the desired end. We should be surprised to see a man take his place on the race course and stand rejoicing to be on the track and yet not start in the race. Paul desired to press forward. An Endeavorer is supposed to be constantly desiring growth; to be better this year than last. After being saved, the duty of the Endeavorer is to lead others in the right way. The society should help the church of which it is a part. An important part of the Christian Endeavor work is to stand attention in all parts of the country. It is not desirable, he said, that we the relation to our fellow men the matter of supreme importance to the about such a God. exclusion of a recognition of our duties to God. If You Want a Good Appetite and Perfect Digestion.

After each meal dissolve one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in the mouth and, mingling with the food, they constitute a perfect digestive, absolutely safe for the most sensitive stomach. They digest the food before it has time to ferment, thus preventing the formation of gas and keeping the blood pure and free from the poisonous products of fermented, half-digested food.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets make the complexion clear by keeping the blood pure. They increase flesh by digesting flesh-forming foods. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the only remedy designed especially for the cure of stomach troubles and nothing else.

One disease, one remedy, the successful physician of to-day is the specialist, the successful medicine is the medicine prepared especially for one disease. A whole package taken at one time would not hurt you, but would simply be a waste of good material. Over six thousand men and women in the state of Michigan alone have been cured of indigestion and dyspepsia by the use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

MORE BONDS.

The $100,000,000 bond sale in February will not protect the treasury low that it will not pay you to get a anywhere near as long as did the $62. 000,000 sale made in February, 1895. That time no danger was felt until October, while this year, with a onethird larger gold purchase, the treasury may be in extremity by July. This is not an encouraging prospect. It means another bond sale—a further addition of $50,000,000 or $100,-000,000 to an interest-bearing debt which has already been increased $262,000 000 by the present that the revenue and the short time and low interest bond bill passed by the house early in the session failed in cents. C. N. NYE IS CALLED TO THE HOME ABOVE

THE COUNTY TREASURER DIED RATHER SUDDENLY.

Went Home Thursday Noon Complaining of a Pain In His Stomach and Passed Away Sunday Morning-Claude Burnett Is Drowned at Savannah, Illinois.

County Treasurer Charles N. Nye is dead. This news will come as a painful surprise to Janesville people, as it was not generally known that he was ill. He was taken sick on Wednesday evening, and went to see a doctor. Thursday noon he left for his home in the town of Beloit. His illness was not then thought to be serious, but when Mr. Nye reached nome he grew worse rapidly. His illness quickly de- large numbers at the stock yards. veloped into inflammation of the bowels, and assumed a dangerous phase.

Saturday night the critical stage was reached, and about 5 o'clock Sunday morning the death angel came. Mr. Nye was conscious to the last, and but half an hour before he died, declaied rapidly. T. P. Burns. that he would get well.

Heart Failure Followed.

Heart failure became apparent soon afterward, however, and with it came death. Mr. Nye had been subject to heart disease for some time.

The sad news reached Janesville in the form of a telegram to O. P. Brun-

Mr. Nye was well known throughout Rock county. He had long been prominent in the affairs of the county, and had served his town as a member of the county board of supervisors for several terms. He had also been chosen as president of that body, and two years ago he was elected county treasurer, succeeding A. D. Burdick. On assuming his office he did not remove his family to this city, but boarded here, and spent Sunday Gooden and Matthews. at home each week.

Mr. Nye was a man who made friends of all with whom he came in contact. Modest and unassuming, he disliked all show, but was possessed of a genial disposition and a rugged character strength of endeared him to all. His death will cause universal sorrow in the county. He leaves a wife and three children, -two sons and a daughter-and was about fifty three years of age. Funeral on Wednesday

The funeral will be held from the men, of which order Mr. Nye was a member, will also attend, and, the exercises at the cemetery will be Somebody must be chosen to fill Mr. Nye's unexpired term, as the office is one that cannot remain vacant very long. The appointment will be made by the county board, and County Clerk McIntyre today prepared a call for a special session to be held for that purpose on Tuesday, June 9. There are several candidates for the position.

CLAUDE BURNETT IS DROWNED.

Former Janesville Boy Meets Death at Savannah, Ill., Last Night.

Claude Burnett, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Burnett, formerly of this city, was drowned at Savannah, Ill., last evening and up to 10 o'c'cck last night his body had not been recovered. Mr. Burnett was about twenty years of age, and was a brakeman on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway. R. S. Burnett, of this city, a brother of the dead young man, received the sad news by telegraph. No particulars were received, and it funeral will be held, or whether or not the remains have been recovered.

STREET CARS DID A BIG BUSINESS The Memorial Day Receipts Far Ahead of Last Year

Memorial day was a profitable one for the street car company, and nearly 2,700 people were carried. Superintendent Cummins stated this morning that he was much pleased with the result, and well he ought to be, for the receipts show that they carried nearly a thousand people in excess of the same day in 1895.

By common consent the Kodak is a pleasant traveling companion-to treasure up the odd bits of life one sees by merely "pressing the button" is one of the chief delights to be gained from a trip in new lands and among strange peoples. To look over one's Kodagraphs afterwards, and tell one's friends about this and that point of interest, explaining the circumstances and recalling the incidents connected with each picture is almost as good as taking a trip all over again. But it is not alone the traveler who appreciates the Kodak. Its capabilities are such that it appeals to those who wish to do the highest class of art work and compete for prizes and fame in the photographic world.

PIRACY STILL EXISTS.

In the Chinese Seas the Old Trade Has Many Followers

In the Malay peninsula piracy has declined considerably since the expedition of twenty years ago, but Perak, Salangore and Ramhow still distinguish themselves now and again by a little | head. undisguised business of this kind, says the Pall Mall Gazette. In China the two great hotbeds of buccaneers are it. But if you will join me, I will open the places which have been celebrated this box of eardy I bought just before in this direction for centuries-Amoy and Canton. The Amoy people proper, who speak the Amoy dialect and live in on the box and shuddered. the walled city, are very quiet, peaceable and orderly, and have a pronounced antipathy for fighting whether on sea or shore. But back of Amoy is the mountainous district of Tongan. It is connected with the ocean by many arms of the sea. Its soil is sterile and its resources are very few; its people, like all mountainers, are thin, muscular, brave and resolute. Even today they preserve a semi-independence of a military nature. These are the gentlemen who make their living by piracy. They and the men of Canton have learned wisdom by experience. They no longer cruise the wide seas, attacking any craft that may come along. There are too many gunboats patrolling the coast-too many rifled | Star. guns and too many yardarms. Law and order in the last century have shot, hanged, drowned, blown up or burned at least 100,000 followers of the "black basis.

They keep spies at various places in headquarters whenever some junk is a shooting star.—To Date. about to leave that has a rich cargo or carries a large amount of money. Along with this goes the information of who commands the boat, how large a crew it carries and how it is armed. The pirates then plan to intercept the craft in some river or arm of the sea, or else in some shoal water near the coast, where there is no chance of Weekly. meeting a gunboat, and where, after the robbery, they will have a safe means of escape. Their calculations are carefully made, but come out right only once in four or five times. It may be that a foreign or Chinese gunboat suddenly appears on the scene. It may be that the junk they are after goes past their rendezvous with a European steamer or river launch, or mayhap the prospective victim is delayed by adverse winds and tides, and so does not appear at the time and place figured and Mrs. Jones around to dinner toupon. When they do make a capture they are not so brutal and cruel as in the old years. ENGINEERING BY A MOUSE.

Skillful Plan by Which He Got Himself Out of a Deep Hole.

"While digging holes for telegraph poles at Byron, Me.," said a Western Union man, "I became interested in watching the ingenuity and perseverence of a mouse. He fell into one of the holes, which was four and a half feet deep, and twenty inches across, The first day he ran around the bottom of the hole trying to find some means of escape, but could not climb out. The second day he settled down to business. He began steadily and systematically to dig a spiral groove around the inner surface of the hole, with a uniformly ascending grade. He worked night and day, and as he got farther from the bottom he dug little pockets, where he could either lie or sit and rest. Interested witnesses threw in food. At the end of two weeks the mouse struck a rock. This puzzled him. For nearily a day he tried to get under, around or over the obstruction, but without success. With unflinching patience he reversed his spiral and went on tunneling his way in the opposite direction. At the end of four weeks he reached the top, and probably sped away to enjoy his wellearned freedom. His escape was not seen. When his food was put in in the morning he was near the surface, but at night the work was seen to be complete and the little engineer, whose pluck and skill had saved his life, had left."-Exchange.

SLEEVES AND CUFFS.

The Former, Though Smaller, Are Highl, Decorated-More Variety In Styles. Although sleeves have decidedly diminished, they have by no means reverted as yet to the entirely plain, tight fashion. Several models show close sleeves, but they have shoulder ruffles, puffs and frills large enough to make up for the contraction in the sleeve proper. The most notable peculiarity about this portion of the costume is the adoption of flaring cuffs that fall over the bands, some of them being pointed over the back of the hand and filled in sleeves and have long points at the underside of the arm. The majority of the new sleeves have ruchings, and although they are not an absolute necessity as yet they probably will be before the end of the season. Nothing improves the appearance of the hands more than soft lace ruchings. into square tabs. These are corded, with the silk either matching the goods or in contrast, and have the usual lace frills. A few dresses have fancy cuffs made of puffs, plaited ribbon, shirred satin or india silk, and one model has a bracelet cuff made of soft silk and jet.

form and color. Nearly everything is now runs riot. Capes and jackets are both simplicity to the greatest elaboration.

The sketch illustrates a dinner bodice of white mousseline de soie. It is gathered at the neck and under a corselet of violine silk, which is trimmed with beaded galloons of a Persian pattern. The galloon forms shoulder straps and a belt. Loops of violine satin extend below the belt, and coques of the same material adorn the shoulders. The sleeves, of mousseline, are puffed and have ruffles of mousseline as

FASHIONS AND FANCIES.

Perfect Taste Does Not Run to Extremes. Frail Hat Trimmings.

It is a curious fact that what is in the most perfect taste is never the extreme of fashion. The mode always overreaches itself and degenerates to extravagance. This is no indication, however, that whatever is unfashionable is in good taste, although to a number of persons who ought to know better this seems to be a cardinal rule of dress. If sleeves are generally worn large, the self considered sensible and truly well dressed woman wears hers conspicuously small. When fashion decrees them small, she at once decides that fashion is in vogue, and her skirts become full as the mode changes to narrow ones. She never seems to perceive for a moment that her varieties are as great as those of her fashionable sisters, and even greater in one way, for they render her conspicuous. Yellow is much employed for the trimming and accessories of costumes, and green has also a large share of favor. Mauve, however, and all clear violet and purple tones are most fashionable of any. Tulle, lace and gauze are the dominant trimmings for hats, bodices and skirts. They are fragile, but very pretty while they last. Plaited ruffles of mauve mousseline de soie are much liked just now, but flat trimmings are also fashionable.

An illustration is given of a toilet of straw mousseline de soie. The skirt is trimmed with a wide band of white guipure near the foot, with lace butterflies crossing it at intervals. The lining is of straw silk. The slightly full bodice is ornamented with a band of guipure, which crosses in front and forms a point behind. It is edged with pearls and passes under the belt, falling a short distance on the skirt on each side. The half length sleeves, of mousseline de soie, terminate under a bow of white taffeta and are partly covered by double epaulets of gulpure. The chemisette and low, ruched collar are of white gauze. Coques of white taffeta are placed at each side of the front of the belt. JUDIC CHOLLET.

A Complicated Case.

"I hardly think," said the lawyer, "that you can get a separation from your wife on account of her making a practice of throwing things at the dog."

"But, great Cæsar, mister," said the man with the haggard look and the black eye, "nigh every time she throws at the dog she hits me!"-Indianapolis Journal.

BROTHER AGAINST BROTHER Remarkable Contest for the Governorship

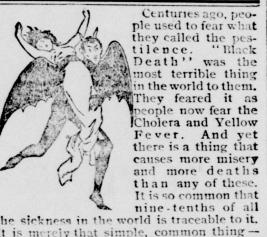

of Tennessee Between the Taylors. From the Washington Post: One of of modern days was that between Bob and Alf Taylor over the governorship of Tennessee some years ago. The brothers are both violinists-in Tennessee they are known as fiddlers. Alf is the superior performer. Bob plays left-handed. Neither one is a finished master of the instrument, but they both with full gathered lace ruchings; others of play the mountain melodies to the queen's taste. During their unique race for governor Bob and Alf did not actually carry their fiddles with them, but in almost every town the people would hunt up a couple of violins and insist on hearing them play. When the election was over and Bob was occupying the highest office in the gift of Tennesseeans a convict of the penitentiary one day sent him a fiddle. It was a home-made instrument, the convict being its author and finisher. He had made it while serving out his sentence in the "pen," and designed touching a tender chord in the governor's heart by the presentation. The story is best told in Governor Bob's own way: "One day just before Christmas a state official entered my office and said: 'I have been implored by a poor, miserable wretch in the penitentiary to bring you this rude fiddle. It was made by his own hands with a penknife during the hours alloted to him for rest. It is absolutely valueless, it is true, but it is his petition for mercy. He begged me to say that he has neither attorney nor influential friends to plead for him; he is poor, and all that he asks is, that when the governor shall sit at his own happy children around him, he will ains in which is a family of poor, ragged children crying for bread and lissurrounded by his own happy family, an individual, and it is certain that so permissibly worn, and individual fancy and sitting there he played one tune on long as equity, honesty and charity are the rough fiddle. Far up in the mountfashionable and range from the severest ains there was another hearthstone bright and warm, the pardoned convict was there with his children on his knees and his heart re-echoing the strains which the governor played on the home-made fiddle.

The kiss has to be taught to children. Preyer, in his excellent book, "The Mind of the Child," states that at first they are averse to, and even fearful of the performance. However this may be, it is certain that Europeans speedily take to it as though to the manner born. Osculations were far more common in the good old times than at present. The custom which most delighted Erasmus when in England was that the girls all kissed him. When ceasing to be performed some of these ceremonies leave their trace in language. Thus both Austrians and Spaniards say: "I kiss your hands," as a polite term for returning thanks. John Bunyan was a very different man from Erasmus, and in his "Grace Abounding" he says: "The common salutation of women I abhor; it is odious to me in whomsoever I see it." And to those who defended it as the holy kiss, he pertinently asked: "Why do they salute the most handsome and let the

of American Manhood. "These articles have failed in their the most remarkable political contests; object if they do not tend to inculate in the minds of American youth the importance of will-power and right aspirations to the complete development of the individual," writes General A. W. Greely, concluding, in Ladies' Home Journal, his series of papers on "The Personal Side of Washington." "What are the salient changes wrought by these forces in the evolution of the man George Washington? For money his indomitable will sacrificed to the exigencies of harsh labor and uncongenial surroundings the pleasures of home life. Later, his noble aspirations valued gold only as a means of serving his country, of alleviating suffering, and of extending charity. Rising in an aristocratic community to the apex of its social system he then eagerly offered his assured standing and acquired fortune in order to insure civic and religious liberty to all grades of society. Brutality and cruelty marked the contests of his earlier day; in his mature years he was one of the most humane warriors of any age. The brooding curse of slavery imposed upon him traffic in human lives; later he rose above the race prejudices of his time, and by his individual action forestalled by sixty years that inevitable goal of individual freedom, which futurity deferred for America to another century. His irreligious surroundings and youthful habits were such as have sapped the better character of thousands. Yet he came to recognize that his own evolutionary processes were no fireside on Christmas eve with his own safe guides to humanity, but that the only sure road is that pointed out by replay one tune on this rough fiddle and ligious faith and assimilated action, Another sleeve has the cuff portion slashed think of a cabin far away in the mount- through the by-paths of sobriety, industry, charity and right living. A FEW OF OUR MANY

HOT  WEATHER  BARGAINS!

50c Shirt Waists--

To those who have had our 50c Shirt Waists no description is necessary. To others, only this--- that they are identified by the large; stylish, Bishop sleeves; by fullness in body, and the general tone of a higher priced Waist.

3 prs. Gents' Seamless Hose 25c.

They are soft and fine. The kind that is a comfort to wear this hot weather. It is not many year since you would pay 25c a pair for them.

Silk and Leather Belts--

We show more Belts than all Janesville combined---Leather Belts in black, white, tans, modes and browns; Silk Belts with chased and engraved gold, silver and black buckles. You will say that our 25c values are worth double.

25c Silk Mitts--

For 25 cents we sell you almost as as good a peir as you paid 50 cents for last season.

25c Ladies' Neck Ties--

We are are having a great sale on Ladies' Ties, and why shouldn't we when we give 35, 40 and 50 cent values for 25c?

5 and 1oc Ladies' Vests--

We have just received our fourth large shipment of these goods. The values must be right or our sales would not run into the thousands of dozens.

Link Shirt Waist Sets--

75 new styles to show you, and the usual Dry Goods profit market on each set. This means a big saving to you.

QUITE A WRECK AT ROCKTON, ILL.

Crew From Here Sent to Clear Up the Track.

The St. Paul wrecking crew, in charge of J. C. Fox, left this city Saturday afternoon to cear up a wreck at Rockton, Ill, Freight, train No. 195 pulled in on the side track but but a number of cars standing on the main track. When passenger No. 6 came along a collision occurred. The fireman jumped but the engineer stayed at his post and was uninjured. Cars filled with farm machinery were badly wrecked, as was also the mail car on the passenger train, but no one was injured.
